

INTERNATIONAL EARTH DAY

Earth Day is an annual celebration of the achievements of the environmental movement and raises awareness of the need to protect nature for our future generations.

On April 20, Bouygues Turkmen, UNICEF, Nature Protection Association of Turkmenistan, and SDG Ambassadors joined together to celebrate Earth Day and host an environmental contest involving students from different schools at our Carbon Co-Working training center.

The competition about environmental issues hosted projects in general educational disciplines with an environmental focus in two age categories. The projects took different forms: video recordings, 3D animation, original drawings, presentations, reports, but all fall within the environmental issues themes.

Students have developed solutions to an environmental issue affecting society. They used their critical-thinking and research skills to come up with a solution. Through original drawings, they demonstrated their understanding of the protection of nature and the basic principles of environmental conservation.

This contest provided children and youth a chance to show their love and affection for our shared natural world by presentations on the value of nature and submitting it for recognition and awards!

The Ambassadors of Bouygues Turkmen, UNICEF, Nature Protection Association of Turkmenistan and SDG Ambassadors, together with the children, planted 17 trees symbolizing the 17 sustainable development goals.

Let's, Climate' Act and save our planet!
