

First I would put my phone in my time capsule because it is something that I use every day and I think that it would be interesting for the people of the future to see what a phone in 2018 looks like. Then I would put my curly hair cream because it smells good and I also use it every day. The third item that I would put in my time capsule would be my hair brush because it is a necessity to me. I would also put a blackberry-scented candle; it is just something that I like. Then I would put some clothes because I would like to show how a teenager dresses like in 2018. The next object I would put in my time capsule would be Beyoncé s album LEMONADE because it is my favourite album at the moment. Then I would put Travis Scott's album ASTROWORLD because it is also a really good album and I like the album cover. The eighth item I would put would be a dictionary because it is another way to get information (other than phone or computer). I would put some chocolate because it is my favourite food. And lastly, I would put a credit card because I think it would be interesting to see how we pay in 2018 because before that, we only paid with cash.
